gaze, watching her mother with stolid, sullen grief. Only after the woman sank into sleep did Dory move, going to help Rush, who as a friend and neighbor had made herself useful and was gathering up blood-soaked cloths scattered by the bed..and he ceased to think of anything at all. They with him. Maybe they were afraid of him. They bound his hands and gagged his mouth to keep him from making spells. They locked him in a cellar room, a room of stone, until they thought him tamed. Then they sent him away to live at the stables of the great farm, for he had a hand with animals, and was quieter when he was with the horses. But he quarreled with a stable boy, and turned the poor lad into a lump of dung. When the wizards had got the stable boy back into his own shape, they tied up the child again, and gagged his mouth, and put him on a ship for Roke. They thought maybe the Masters there could tame him."."Well, so I have to learn from him," said Dragonfly..No, not for her. We can do nothing for the not much left of him but the drink. It's eaten up most of his mind, and most of what we have. So, do you see, put up your money where he won't see

He had been afraid of them, the women that shouted at him to get out of the way in that great other kitchen long ago.
