

BAD MEDICINE A JUDGES STRUGGLE FOR JUSTICE IN A FIRST NATIONS COMMUNITY

"Nonsense," said the grey man smoothing his grey gloves over his wrists. "If you're going to be up this afternoon, you'd better go to sleep right now." "I stole it from my worse and worst enemy." "as the old, the body would not reject it? Surely that is the best possible application of cloning." "Evelyn, how about an orange juice." She looked at him. He nodded. "Make it two." My chair scraped back as I stood up. "Who are you?" Dame Fortune had become so well-disposed to him that he got his third endorsement (though in Mandy's). The poly flattened into a lower, broader shape and turned an intense, pulsating blue. It was odd to see Selene in Amanda's clothes. Singh jumped, then turned around, looked at the three officers. They were looking as surprised as he, he, as our representative, had informed them they could shove it and that despite the Mediator's pleas. The MacKinnons introduced themselves. His name was Jason. Hers was Michelle. They lived quite nearby, on West 28th, and were interested, primarily, in the television shows they'd seen when they were growing up, about which they were very well-informed. Despite a bad first impression, due to his associating them with Maggie of the green sofa, Barry found himself liking the MacKinnons enormously, and before the next switchover he put his chair in the LOCK position. They spent the rest of the evening together, exchanging nostalgic tidbits over coffee and slices of Partyland's famous pineapple pie. At closing time he asked if they would either consider giving him an endorsement. They said they would have, having thoroughly enjoyed his company, but unfortunately they'd both used up their quota for that year. They seemed genuinely sorry, but he felt it had been a mistake to ask. I've got ten seconds to stare out at that vast crowd. Where, I wonder, did the arena logistics people scrape up almost a million in/out headbands? I know I'm hallucinating, but for just a moment I see the scarlet webwork of broadcast power reaching out from my console to those million skulls. The well-muffled sailor with the coil of rope on his shoulder stepped forward with Amos. They crowded into the airlock, carefully not looking at each other's faces as they waited for the automatic machinery. The inner door opened and Lang pushed forward and right back into the airlock. Few of the younger astronauts, scientists, engineers, and North American Space Development Organization executives could remember NASDO without Congreve as its president. For all of them, things would never be quite the same again. In addition, endangered species could have their chances of survival increased if both males and females could be cloned over and over. When the number of individuals was sufficiently increased, sexual reproduction could be allowed to take over. Gus Verdugo worked in R&I. I gave him everything I had on Andrew Detweiler and asked him if he'd mind running it through the computer. He wouldn't mind. He called back in fifteen minutes. Are you married, uh . . ." I looked at her over my shoulder. "Do what?" "Stick it". I settled back in the chair, trying not to laugh. "Why does Mrs. Bushyager want me to find her little sister?" "There are times," said Amos, "when it is better to know only the reward and not the dangers." The sailors gathered on the deck of the ship just as the sun began to set, and the grey man put one. Johnny took the news of his impending stardom with total unconcern. He moved to the couch and sat down, yawning. "Detweiler? Don't think I ever laid eyes on the man. What'd he do?"
