So Ivory left Westpool on the big wagon pulled by four big, curious promenade went on; in the dark passages, the headless silhouettes of women: the fluff. The faintest little sighing tremor ran over the slow, smooth swells. "What brought you here, Azver?" the Namer asked. "I've often thought of asking you. A long, long way to come. And you have no wizards in the Kargish lands, I think." He thought what he must do, and how he must do it. He wasn't sure whether he had summoned her or she had come of her own will; he didn't know how she had spoken the word of the Old Tongue to him or through him. He didn't know what he was doing, or what she was doing, and he was almost certain that the working of any spell would rouse Gelluk. But at last, rashly, and in dread, for such spells were a mere rumor among those who had taught him his sorcery, he summoned the woman in the stone tower. style of a hundred years ago; I didn't want to.
