

GS IN GERMANY AND THE UNITED STATES 1819 1945 THE BIRTH OF TWO ADDICT

Hire a carter, buy a mule. I'm old, Azver." never practiced it, but he could see that the young fellow had the gift. He would do well to learn. No wind. No birdcall. No distant lowing or bleating or call of voice. As if all the island had. For Golden looked on the Art Magic with genuine humility as something quite beyond him -- not a mere toy, such as music or tale-telling, but a practical business, which his business could never quite equal. And he was, though he wouldn't have put it that way, afraid of wizards. A bit contemptuous of sorcerers, with their sleights and illusions and gibble-gabble, but afraid of wizards. Hound had taken him, had stood and seen his people beaten senseless, had not stopped the beating. The wizard's spells still bound their minds together. Otter pressed rashly forward into Gelluk's mind, seeking his true name. But he did not know where to look or how to look. A finder who did not know his craft, all he could see clearly in Gelluk's thoughts were pages of a lore-book full of meaningless words, and the vision he had described--a vast, red-walled palace where silver runes danced on the crimson pillars. But Otter could not read the book or the runes. He had never learned to read. I turned and left. The outer door yielded when I pushed it; the large corridor was almost. Hardic. "I doubt the Doorkeeper would defy it lightly," said one of them. Irian had not noticed till he. Women who work magic may practice periods of celibacy as well as fasting and other disciplines. So it was. For the rest of his life, Medra kept the doors of the Great House on Roke. The garden door that opened out upon the Knoll was long called Medra's Gate, even after much else had changed in that house as the centuries passed through it. And still the ninth Master of Roke is the Doorkeeper. from horseback; yet he felt short, he felt small. head and he would practice it mentally on the harp in his mind, and so drift off to sleep. Diamond had no idea what to say. The idea of its being up to him had not occurred to him. "Do you think I ought to?" he asked at last. while I work with the beasts." where was old Early and had the fleet been to Roke and come back and all. Early, they said, nobody. power in Losen's pay. Hound did not consider himself to be one of them. "All I have is a nose," he. "But you do have a talent." These kings and queens had some knowledge of the Old Speech and of magery. Some of them were. door lintel to protect a house from fire, are in common use, familiar to unlearned people. neither very promising, mere cattle tracks among the reeds, and looked for some sign of the way he. They are five against us," said the Herbal. By the time they were well into the bay and had let down the anchor it was dark, and Ivory said to the ship's master, "I'll go ashore in the morning." "The Hoary Men!" said Irian, staring openly at him. All Daisy's ballads of the Hoary Men who sailed out of the east to lay the land waste and spit innocent babes on their lances, and the story of how Erreth-Akbe lost the Ring of Peace, and the new songs and the King's Tale about how Archmage Sparrowhawk had gone among the Hoary Men and come back with that ring - neighbor had made herself useful and was gathering up blood-soaked cloths scattered by the bed. "If somebody could talk to her people there, they'd get word to her. Her brother, Littleash, used to conic to the city every year or two." while, her face turned from him but their hands joined and their bodies pressed close. At last she. the dragons came to raid among the western lands, and wizards went out in vain against them. King. To love power and to share it is the royal way. Look. Watch what I do." Gelluk held up the pouch. followed her, but only to the door. Nobody entered a witch's house uninvited. naked white arms and shake her. . . . When (in the year 440, by Hardic count) Erreth-Akbe came to make peace between the Archipelago and the Kargad Lands, bearing the Bond Ring as pledge of his king's sincerity, he came to Hupun as the capital of the Kargad Empire and treated with King Thoreg as its ruler. HE SPENT THE NIGHT in their old place in the shallows. Maybe he hoped she would come, but she did not come, and he soon slept in sheer weariness. He woke in the first, cold light. He sat up and thought. He looked at life in that cold light. It was a different matter from what he had believed it. He went down to the stream in which he had been named. He drank, washed his hands and face, made himself look as decent as he could, and went up through the town to the fine house at the high end, his father's house. give Ivory a purse for his journey. It was the first real money he had had in his pocket for. Mostly the pupil was supposed to be with the Master, or studying the lists of names in the room. Heru, the Queen Mother, gave the emissary the arm ring Morred gave Elfarran; her consort Aimal had given it to her when they married. It had come down through the generations of the descendants of Serriadh, and was their most precious possession. On it was carved a figure written nowhere else, the Bond Rune or Rune of Peace, believed to be a guarantee of peaceful and righteous rule. "Let the Kargish king wear Morred's ring," the Queen Mother said. So, bringing it as the most generous of gifts and in pledge of peaceful intent, Erreth-Akbe went alone to the City of the Kings on Karego-At. To Otter this conversation was, again, like walking forward in a vast darkness with a small lamp. "One of the old women you had tortured before they burned the lot, you know? Well, the fellow who. All the teachers of the art magic on Roke were women. There were no men of power, few men at all, on the island. "Hu-hu-hu," said the owl, under her window, and then it said, "Darkrose!" Startled from her. Another pause. Golden glanced over at his wife, who stood by the window listening in silence. Then he looked at his son. Slowly the mixture of anger, disappointment, confusion, and respect on his face gave way to something simpler, a look of complicity, very nearly a wink. "I see," he said. "And what did you decide you want?" Only in Paln did wizards combine the two practices, in the arcane, esoteric, and reputedly. "If it's a real gift, an unusual capacity, that's even more true.
